

Academic Policy

Integrity, Examinations, and Collaboration

1. Scope

This policy applies to all assessed work across all undergraduate and taught postgraduate programmes. It is reviewed annually by the academic conduct board and takes effect at the start of the academic year in which it is published.

2. Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the presentation of another person's words, ideas, or data as one's own. A first confirmed offence results in a zero for the assessment and a formal note on the student's file; a second offence is referred to the academic conduct board.

All directly quoted material must appear in quotation marks with an accompanying citation, and paraphrased material must be cited even when no words are shared. Students may use any consistent citation style unless the instructor specifies one.

Suspected cases are raised with the student before any finding is recorded. The student may respond in writing within five working days.

3. Examination Conduct

During examinations, students may bring only writing implements and an approved calculator. Mobile phones, smart watches, and notes of any kind must be left at the front of the room, and leaving the room mid-examination requires proctor approval.

Proctors may reseal any student at any time. A student who is asked to surrender materials and refuses is recorded as having withdrawn from the examination.

4. Collaboration

Collaboration on take-home assignments is permitted. Students may discuss approaches and work through problems together, provided each student writes and submits their own solution independently.

Collaboration on take-home assignments is not permitted. Students may not discuss approaches or work through problems together, and all submitted solutions must be produced entirely independently.
